Why is it important to attend school every day?

Having good attendance and being on time is proven to help boost your child's achievement, social development and mental health. It ensures your child feels safe and supported.

Attendance is a priority in our school and is closely monitored.

You must report your child's absence to the school office.

One day missed of school, can mean three days of catching up with learning for your child

- Research shows that young people with high levels of attendance have better SATs and GCSE results.

- Regular attendance also improves young people's social and emotional development which boost essential key life skills.

- Missing learning causes anxiety and missing playtimes really affects developing friendships.

- If your child isn't in school, it's hard for them to develop their core skills.

How can you help?

DID YOU KNOW?

There are 190 school days in a year meaning there are 175 days left for holidays and appointments!

- Try to arrange planned family trips and activities during the school holidays.

- Schedule doctor and dental appointments either before school or after school hours.

- If an appointment during school hours cannot be avoided, ensure your child is in school for as much of the day as possible.

- Try and set good routines at home including good sleep patterns.

- Take an interest in your child's school work and be actively involved in school, Parents Evenings and other events.

- Contact the school if attendance is becoming a problem. We can work together to improve things.
